

GIT215 Final Project Testing
Ethan May

After opening my project in three different browsers (Google Chrome, Firefox, Microsoft Edge) I couldn't see many differences between the three. The most I noticed was that the text entry box for "Comments" on the Firefox Contact Page was slightly different than the same text entry box when viewing on Chrome or Edge. On Firefox, this text entry box had a height that was slightly taller, and the Submit button's width was slightly less than the other two browsers. The home pages looked identical on all three browsers.